Charges Fly Over License for Vine Gardens; Zoning Protests In New Turn

Citizens Demand City Be Zoned Only for Single Residences and Business

Protests against the master plan for Sierra Madre's new zoning ordinance took a new turn at a meeting of the city's planning commission Monday night when protestants urged in effect that the whole city be zoned for single family residences with the exception of a small area to be designated for business purposes.

By word of mouth and petition property owners in two distinct residential districts protested against classification of their properties in any other than single family residence zones and addressing the commission urged that the whole city be given R-1 classification in which only single family residences would be permissible and that later a business district of small area be blocked out.

"This is the most unusual situation I have ever encountered," said Kenneth Sampson, zoning engineer of the County Regional Planning Commission and veteran of many zoning wars, after half a dozen or more protests had been entered against the inclusion of property in multiple dwelling zone areas.

"In nearly every instance that has come under my notice there has been a demand that practically all of the property be zoned for business purposes. Tonight we have heard only demands for the higher classification," Sampson continued, "and this is refreshing and calculated to restore one's faith in human nature. I must remind you, however, that the suggestion that the entire city be put in the R-1 class and that later exceptions to this classification might be effected by neighborhood agreements or understandings is untenable. The city council represents you and its police powers cannot be delegated to a committee of citizens and property holders to whom it has been suggested could be entrusted neighborhood arangements governing the use of land and character of buildings to be erected."

Mr. Sampson again reminded his hearers that the land use plan presented as a basis for the zoning ordinance was "merely something to shoot at" and there would be two public hearings when the effort is made to "precise" the plan or draw the zoning ordinance. The ordinance will be drawn with objections that have been filed clearly in mind and Mr. Sampson expressed the belief that many of the objections so far entered would be given every consideration. It was not the purpose of zoning to destroy but to work out a plan by which the greatest good could be done for the greatest number, he explained.

Col. H. B. Hersey asked the city planners to take into consideration the character of Sierra Madre in the preparation of a zoning ordinance. "Remember," he said, "this is not a new city and the possibility of its growth is limited. It is distinctly a home town, a city of residences. There is no need for so much territory to be zoned for business and multiple dwelling purposes. People who come here come because it enjoys so many advantages of a home community in a superlative degree—peace, quiet, fine air, exceptionally good water, good school and because it is a splendid place in which to raise children. The territory required for the city's business needs is small, nor is there any possibility that we shall become a city of apartments and bungalow courts."

Dr. Webster Vannier suggested on account of the size and character of the community that all or practically all of the city should be given R-1 or single family zone classification, which idea was also advanced by Mrs. Grace R. Vane of East Sierra Madre boulevard, who thought there should be no rigid rule as to the character of the buildings to be erected in various districts outside the distinctly business area. She thought this matter should be left to the property owners of the various districts who would be able to determine what was best suited to a neighborhood. The suggestions of Dr. Vannier and Mrs. Vane brought from Mr. Sampson his observation that the council could not delegate the city's police power.

Mrs. Jessica H. Wright presented a petition signed by herself and four other owners of frontage on East Sierra Madre Blvd, extending 460 feet eastwardly from Mountain Trail avenue. They protested against their properties being included in the multiple family classification. The petition was signed by Mrs. Augusta Coats, Mrs. Josephine H. Felows,

Allege Council Spent $800 Illegally To Build Wistaria Parking Lot

Discussion of the master plan for the city's new zoning ordinance was avoided at Wednesday's city council meeting when the council, on receipt of a certified copy of the plan from the planning commission, immediately designated Wednesday, evening July 27, as a date for its hearing on the plan.

The council chamber was filled with local residents, most of whom were prepared to express their views on various features of the plan. Those who attended expecting some interesting development were not disappointed, however, for the controversial question of year-around operation of the Wistaria Vine Gardens was discussed by Mrs. W. J. Lawless and Col. H. B. Hersey when Mrs. Lawless inquired what disposition the council had made of her request for a business license to operate a botanical garden and tea room on the Wistaria Vine property.

Following a lengthy discussion the council advised Mrs. Lawless that no action would be taken on her application until the new zoning ordinance has been adopted. Meanwhile Mrs. Earl Wilcox, the owner of the large estate adjoining the Wistaria Vine Gardens on the west, filed an application for a permit to sell "food products and produce" on the lower acre of the Wilcox property in Floral Valley fronting on West Carter avenue extension. The application was accompanied by a check for the annual license fee of $12.00. Action on this application was held up together with that of Mrs. Lawless. The Wilcox family has vigorously opposed operation of the Vine property except during the annual Wistaria fetes.

Shortly before the question of the Vine Gardens permit was raised the council granted the long-pending application of N. W. Tarr to erect a service station on two lots owned by him at the northwest corner of West Sierra Madre Blvd. and Lima street. The application had been held up pending adoption of a zoning ordinance. The master plan for the proposed ordinance in its present form extends the business area west to include the lots covered in the application. The old zoning ordinance cut the business district at Lima street. A steel service station to be tenanted by the Signal Oil Company will be constructed on the corner at once.

Preceding the discussion between Mrs. Lawless and Col. Hersey, protests against granting of a business license for Wistaria Vine Gardens was read from Miss Sue Brobst and Mrs. Laura A. Hersey, and a written protest against a feature of the proposed zoning ordinance was filed by J. A. Kramer, whose datepacking plant at North Mountain Trail and Highland avenue has been included in the multiple residence district of the master plan. Under the former ordinance it was in the business area and Mr. Kramer has recently enlarged his facilities and installed an extensive cooling plant.

The Lawless-Hersey discussion came when it appeared to Mrs. Lawless that the council proposed to do nothing at its meeting with her application, whereas she expected the question would be disposed of during the session. She said she understood a motion adopted by the council at its last meeting definitely fixed Wednesday as the time for granting or refusing a license. She was told that what the council really had done was to agree that no action would be taken while the zoning ordinance was under consideration, and the city clerk was ordered to read a section of the minutes of the previous council meeting showing postponement of action.

"My understanding of the action taken was totally different," said Mrs. Lawless, "and I think I heard the proceedings perfectly. However, I want to remind Mayor Schlitz of what he said when he presided at the first meeting of this council about the public being welcome at the council meetings and entitled to hear the proceedings."

Mrs. Lawless said that when those who are protesting now against operation of the Wistaria Vine Gardens bought their property they knew ,or should have known, that their properties were not in a restricted area and that the Vine property was a public institution. If a mistake was made, it was made by the buyers in not making a proper investigation or by a real estate agent who misrepresented conditions, Mrs. Lawless said. She said that for several years prior to the time she purchased the Vine property the vine and property

Pepper Tree Will Remain At Old Stand

The old pepper tree at 25 W. Grand View avenue will not be molested on recommendation of the city planning commission. An application for its removal was denied by the city council on Wednesday evening. The planning commission reported that "it is such a fine tree it should not be removed."

Townsend Clubs To Meet Here On 25th

Townsend clubs of this and nearby cities will have a picnic meeting at the Sierra Madre city park Monday, July 25. Permission for use of the park for this purpose was granted by the city council this week on an application of Mrs. A. M. Whitman.

Many Are Seeking Information About Sierra Madre

Charles W. Kinnear, secretary of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce received a request from the All Year Club of Southern California for more Sierra Madre folders this week. Mr. Kinnear thought it impossible for more folders to be needed since 1000 had been delivered to the All Year Club the first of May, could there be a demand for more so soon. A letter was sent to the All Year Club for verification of the order and the reply came back. "The All Year Clu bhas distributed 1000 Sierra Madre folders in the past 60 days; send more at once."

Additional folders have been forwarded. Many requests for special information as to local conditions and possibilities for securing homes in Sierra Madre are being answered by the secretary.

Kills Rattlesnake On West Carter Lawn

A rattling good time was experienced by Bill Cronin Monday evening about 7 o'clock. There he was minding his own business and watering his lawn at 58 West Carter avenue when a shout drew his attention to a curled up reptile ready to strike at the end of the sidewalk. Bill dropped the hose in a hurry and grabbed a nearby rock. He hit the snake on the back of the head, but apparently the thing had no intention of giving up the ghost because it prepared to strike again. This time a next door neighbor came to the rescue with a mop handle, and when Bill picked up another rock and knocked its head off, there was no doubt as to its life on earth being ended.

On examination it proved to be a black diamond rattler — five years old ,three feet long and as big around as a broom handle. To assure us it was a legitimate snake attack, Bill brought the rattlers to the News office.

Citizens May Meet Candidates Here Tuesday Evening

Sierra Madreans will have their first opportunity next Tuesday evening to meet and gauge the fitness of some of the candidates whose names will appear on the ballots at the approaching elections. The candidates are coming to attend a town meeting called by the Sierra Madra Republican Club, to be held in the council chamber of the city hall at 7:30. It will be the first political gathering held here in a very long time. Incidentally the club, of which City Treasurer Carl Pegler is president, will arrange for other meetings to be held later and for enrollment of members.

Among candidates who have accepted invitations to be present are Carl Hinshaw of Pasadena, candidate for Congress, and J. Fenton Knight of La Canada, candidate for the assembly. All the Republican county committeemen from the 48th assembly district have also accepted invitations.

Canyon Bond Troubles Near End

Property Holders Have Until July 25 To Get From Under Mattoon Burden

Canyon Park property owners were confident yesterday they would be out from under their irksome Mattoon Act assessment burden before the moratorium on delinquent taxes expires on August 20. July 25 has been set as the deadline for co-operation by Canyonites in slipping off the yoke that threatens confiscation of many properties.

Ben J. Grammel, chairman of the special assessment relief committee that has been working out the Mattoon difficulties issued the following statement yesterday:

Prospects of settling the long-standing Sierra Madre Canyon Mattoon Act troubles appear to be very bright at present.

The Special Assessment Relief Committee of Sierra Madre Canyon have made arrangements with E. K. Wood, who has settled six other Mattoon Act districts during the past year, to clear up the Mattoon Act bonds covering the street paving there.

Notices have been mailed to all property owners, giving the amount of money to be paid. The money and the bonds will be placed in escrow with the Title Insurance and Trust Company, 433 South Spring Street, Los Angeles. Should the deal fail to go through, the money will be refunded to the property owners. However, the committee and Mr. Wood have the utmost confidence that the matter will be cleared up.

Property owners must bear in mind that all payments should be made before July 25, 1938, in order to avoid the burden of added tax penalties.

This is the big opportunity for the Canyon property owners to get out from under the unjust features of the Mattoon Act.

Low Bid Offered For Topping Estate Up At Auction

Crowds thronged through the spacious rooms of the Topping home Monday to view the furnishings and personal effects of Mrs. Ida Topping that were being auctioned. Rooms that had a quaint charm of a past day were scrutinized from a commercial point of view.

Royal Worcester vases were sold quickly for a fraction of their original cost. Solid walnut occasional tables disappeared under the auctioneer's hammer almost as soon as the audience glimpsed them. Rugs, down-cushioned chairs, davenports, pictures and all the articles that had been so carefully selected to fit a particular corner, were piled in groups around the room.

The spacious, substantial mansion that was long a show place, retained its dignity during the proceedings, probably recalling another day when the same pieces of furniture were carred in to furnish a new home. Ten thousand dollars was the highest bid made for the estate. The property was withdrawn and sale of the furnishment proceeded.

Next Thursday Is Last Day To Register

Interest in the approaching primary and Fall state-wide election is growing and more than 200 Sierra Madreans were registered this week, though it is estimated over 800 citizens are still not qualified to vote.

Next Thursday, July 21, is the last day for registration before the August primary election. Any resident who has moved since the last registration, failed to vote or who will become of voting age before the election must be registered in order to vote.

Many residents seem under the impression it is the duty of registrars to register them instead of it being their duty to see that they are registered. The registration and reregistration of voters has been entrusted to Mrs. Tillie Stimpfling of 290 West Laurel avenue, and City Clerk Waverly Pratt. Residents may be registered at the city hall or at Mrs. Stimpfling's home.

Persons who declined to state their party affiliations at the time of registration or who wish to change their party affiliation in order to vote in a party primary next month, may do so before July 21. Persons who decline to give their party connection may not vote in the primary of any political party and will receive only the non-partisan ballot.

Make sure you are registered—and enrolled as you wish to be . . . don't be sorry on election day if you are not eligible to vote.

A dividend of five per cent was paid to common stockholders by the Sierra Madre Savings Bank on July 1. According to a financial statement issued by the bank directors yesterday the bank is in an enviable position with respect to its assets. Cash and securities immediately available total $448,338.83. At the close of business June 30, cash on hand and cash deposited in other banks stood at $92,290.45. Loans were $320,654.58. U. S. Bonds on hand, $187,477.94 and other bonds totaled $168,570.44.

The value set on real estate, including the bank premises on Sierra Madre Blvd., is $39,558.10; deposits totaled $722,240.70; capital, surplus and undivided profits were $80,364.83, and reserves were $8,059.69.

Permits Issued For New Gas Station, Another Home

Following favorable action by the city council this week, the N. W. Tarr Land Co. yesterday applied for a permit for construction of a gas station at the northwest corner of West Sierra Madre Blvd. and Lima street. It will be erected by the Civic Steel Co. at an estimated cost of $6500 and when completed will be occupied by the Seaside Oil Co. This will make the eighth service station in the city.

A permit has been issued to Agnes F. Graham for a frame dwelling with shingle roof at 445 East Highland avenue.

May Add Seventh Grade To Local School As Higher Rate Is Threatened

Parents To Decide Question That Has Caused Much Dissatisfaction And Many Families To Leave The City.—Pasadena's Charge For High School Pupils May Be Jumped From $60 to $104

Sierra Madre's school board is seriously considering adding a seventh grade to the grammar school and will make a decision in the matter shortly. A method of getting an expression on the desirability of such a step from parents of local pupils will be decided upon at a meeting of the school trustees next Tuesday evening.

Also Sierra Madre is facing the probability of an increase in the tax rate for school purposes as a result of a tentative decision of the Pasadena school board to increase the tuition of Sierra Madre pupils in Crown City high schools from $60 to $104 per pupil a year.

There has been mounting dissatisfaction with the system that requires children who have completed the sixth grade here to be hustled off in early morning busses for Pasadena, returning late in the afternoon. It has caused many very desirable citizens to leave the city and more are preparing to move now, including families that take a deep interest in PTA affairs ,because it will be necessary for their children to start at Wilson Jr. high in the Fall.

"We should have as a minimum about 30 or 35 children who are ready for the seventh grade in the fall if the change is to be made," said Edward Ward, Jr., president of the school board. "There would be no fancy curriculum with the extra activities offered at Woodrow Wilson Junior High, but the children would receive a thorough course of instruction in subjects required by the state law.

"It is particularly important that parents who are interested in the plan understand that if the child starts the seventh grade in Sierra Madre it would be necessary for him to finish the year at home. Switching from Sierra Madre to Pasadena would not be possible because of the evident confusion that would follow."

One teacher would be added to the local staff to instruct the seventh graders, Mr. Ward said, and there is ample room at the school building for the additional class.

It is probable that at Tuesday's board meeting the trustees will decide to get an expression from the parents of children as they are enrolled for the next semester, and be guided by it.

A court decision in a suit brought by the San Marino school district against the South Pasadena high school district is responsible for uncertainty about the rate Pasadena will charge for local high school pupils. The court decided in the San Marino-South Pasadena case that the South Pasadena board could make any charge it saw fit for San Marino pupils.

"It is up to Pasadena to decide whether the fee will remain at $60 or be increased to $104," Mr. Ward stated. "So far, they have taken no definite action. Each year they send us a contract which should be received before the budget is made up. At times this is not received until after our budget goes in, which is on August first. It is very important that we know what their decision will be in order to make up our budget for the school year, and we are trying to get an answer in now."

If the fee should be raised to $104 for each child the picture is not as dark as it may seem, according to Mr. Ward, because if the elementary school tax rate is increased the high school tax will be lowered. Should the elementary tax rate be increased to 13 or 14 cents, the high school tax will be lowered to 11 cents, which would mean a net increase of probably three cents to the Sierra Madre taxpayers.

City Is Short $27,000 Of Tax Money

Operating Expenses Exceed Tax Income—Council Dips Into Water Earnings

It cost $27,000 more to operate the local government during the fiscal year ending June 30 than the city received in taxes, and the council Wednesday evening reached down into the accumulated earnings of the water department to meet the deficit. A resolution was adopted transfering $27,000 from the water revenue fund to the general fund, leaving a balance of only slightly more than $2,000 in the water fund.

During the past 10 years the tax rate has fallen on an average of from $10,000 to $12,000 short of producing enough revenue to provide the various services which must be paid for out of the $1 per $100 of assessed valuation allowed for the current expenses, according to City Clerk Waverly E. Pratt. The 1937-38 deficit was considerably increased by the emergency expenditure amounting to somewhat more than $10,000 during the severe March storm. An apropriation for reimbursement of this amount out of the state's $5,000,000 emergency storm relief fund has been denied, excepting for $1,400 allowed towards the cost of a swale to replace the East Grand View avenue bridge that was washed out. Several years the deficit was met through the city's ability to secure outside funds.

The council accepted a reccommendation for a settlement with the United Concrete Pipe Corporation and the Metropolitan Water Dsitrict for damage done to Grand View avenue in the laying of the Metropolitan Water District conduit. The pipe company agreed to pay $750 in addition to the $2,000 already paid, for damages not contemplated in the original agreement between the city and the water district.

A resolution was formally adopted appropriating $2,200 to settle the claim of former City Engineer Henry Gierlich for fees in connection with his plans for the extension of the present Sierra Madre Blvd., through the Hastings ranch. Services were performed approximately ten years ago but Gierlich's plans were never used. He sued for $14,000. Settlement was made with a Monrovia bank as assignee. The city will not have to settle with the men who made the appraisal called for by his plans because the time for collection of their fees has expired. However, a settlement remains to be made with the title company and it is understood this will be on the basis of the Gierlich settlement and calls for the payment of about $400.

The council had a letter from the State Planning Board asking it to prepare any projects requiring WPA allocations before August 30, which is the deadline for the filing of projects to be paid for with the present WPA appropriations.

August Munslinger of 214 North Adams street asked the council if it were not possible to oil West Laurel avenue in the block between Hermosa and Auburn avenue where more than a hundred cars are parked every night there is a baseball game on the school field. The dust, he said, is intolerable and he will be obliged to leave the city if the nuisance is not abated.

Legion's Memorial Park At Doe Flats Is Dedicated

Among the 200 people who attended the dedication of the 18th district Legion Memorial Grove at Doe Flats Sunday were several Sierra Madreans. Gov. Frank F. Merriam was unable to attend but Frank Drew, Legion state conservation chairman, accepted the memorial grove of about 30 acres adjoining Charleton Flats, back in the mountains just north of Sierra Madre which may now be reached by the Angeles Crest highway.

Sierra Madreans who joined in the picnic celebration included Mr. and Mrs. H. Cant, Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz and son; Mary Frances Brain; Russell Lovejoy and sons; Mike Livingston, Bill Cronin and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Karloff.

PROVISIONS OF ZONE PLAN TO BE EXPLAINED

There appear to be many misunderstandings of the intent and provisions of the land use or Master Plan which will serve as the basis for Sierra Madre's new zoning ordinance, now in course of preparation.

In next week's issue of The Sierra Madre News there will appear a clear, comprehensive authorized statement by the City Planning Commission explaining its Master Plan in detail, its provisions, what it is designed to accomplish, the proper time and place to indicate objections, and the manner in which protests may be made effective.

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

WHAT do you think?—is the world getting better? The question keeps turning up. The polite thing—the optimistic and Christian thing — to say, seems to be that, Why, yes, certainly, the world is getting better. Look at all our schools and colleges and hospitals. And so on. To which, of course, one might retort with the usual references to high-powered bombs and poison gas, and all the other unholiness spawned by the World War; to the World War itself, which happened—"only" yesterday. Which is happening today— to judge by all this current bloodshed and the Armament Race. And which—it seems inevitable—will happen ,in some phase or other—again tomorrow. Thus:

Two thousand years of prayer and mass,
And we've got as far as poison gas.

LINES from Hardy. We may not have the words just right, but the sense is there. A cry old as humanity itself almost. Reminding you of Prophet Elijah under his juniper tree out in the wilderness—brooding on all that his people had prayed for, suffered, and sought— since Noah, since Abraham, and Moses —and all that he himself had prayed and striven for: "What's it got us?" he asked himself. "Go ahead, God ;let me die! For, even me, Thy prophet, I'm no better than my ancestors. Lord, take away my life!" As though Elijah had written:

Two thousand years of up from hell,
And what's the answer? Jezebel!

ELIJAH, though. You can't leave him like that. For we keep thinking—and it's an idea that we can't get rid of, even in our sleep—that all these old Bible stories are straight biography out of the lives of Everyman. And it was only a little time after this, you remember, that Elijah was in a cave on top of a hill — a hill like one of ours, most likely, right up there at the head of Baldwin avenue: "And, behold, the Lord passed by; and a wind rent the mountains and brake the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord wasn't in the wind; and after the wind the earthquake; but the Lord wasn't in the earthquake . . . " You know the rest: Nor in the fire; but in the still small voice: "What doest thou here, Elijah?"

IS the world getting better? It seems to us that so far as we individuals are concerned the answer must also be individual. You're Elijah. When God speaks to you it still won't be in thunder—nor in terms of high explosive—but in the whisper that only you may hear. And when your own good time comes you'll go up in your own individual fiery chariot. Not the World. Nor anyone else with you—except, perhaps, some angels. For what is meant by "the World"?— Humanity in general? What do we know of Humanity in general?— the myriads who have come and gone! —and the living myriads of those the world still misjudges and condemns!

JUST recently in The Christian Century we were reading an article by a great soul. She spoke of the danger the world was in today merely from careless repetition of the Lord's Prayer. Those words — that thought—which might become a terrible flaming sword: "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us." As if we said: "Father, forgive us only insomuch as we forgive" —shall we say?—Hitler?—Mussolini?— Franco? the warlords of Japan?—the man in our own town who doesn't like us or who has hurt our pride? "When shall we learn," the writer asked, "that to forgive is not to condone?" And she added a word of warning that deserves a paragraph all to itself.

THIS. That there is such a power in certain forms of speech. To remind one of all the old legends—all the old fairy-tales—about spells and incantations. Or about the granting of wishes. Pandora and her Box. Alladin and his Lamp. The Monkey's Paw in the Jacobs story. The "Open Sesame" of The Arabian Nights. Harry Emerson Fosdick— whom we quote so often because we think he ought to be; he says: Men are given to complaining of unanswered prayer; but the great disasters are due to prayers that have been answered . . . In the disaster of the World War, how prayers must have multiplied destruction!

AS to the question. Does the world get better? How shall any one of us answer it except by looking into his own heart—where the Kingdom is—where Truth is; even though, as Browning says, "the gross flesh hems it in; the perfect, clear perception — which is Truth!" Which is Truth; which is God! Breathed into Adam. Immortal. Changeless. And changeless still while Adam—as Everyman—carries on his age-old experiments—of sin and sorrow—in the Laboratory called the World. The Laboratory doesn't change. Not greatly. If all the old records be true—and we believe they are. But Adam changes. And Eve. As more and more they perceive the World—and all their fellows—by the light of that "Imprisoned Splendor" which is the Truth. For such as these the World does get better. For finally they Know. And they have found the Kingdom—on Earth as it is in Heaven.

Closing Exercises At Bethany Bible School Today

Closing week of Bethany's summer Bible school has been a busy, happy one for teachers and pupils. Friday the junior high group enjoyed a picnic lunch at the city park ,after which they were taken by bus to Monrovia to spend the afternoon swimming. Monday, the younger children in the second, third and fourth grades, picnicked and went swimming and Tuesday the fifth, sixth and seventh grades got together for a similar party.

The school will close its 1938 season with appropriate exercises today. At 10 o'clock this morning the pre-school kindergarten and first grade groups will give their program, demonstrating what they have been doing in their classes .Diplomas will be presented to those who have completed the work. There are about 45 in these groups.

Tonight at 7:30 all the grades from the second up will present their program, which also shows their work. There will be music, vocal and instrumental, and a display of all the work each grade has completed.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

OUTDOOR CONCERTS AT SEILING GARDEN

Outdoor concerts will be revived this year in the Seiling Garden Theatre, 500 North Adams street. First of the series is Saturda yevening at 8 o'clock. It will feature the following: Clemence Gifford, contralto; John Crown, pianist, and Orline Burrow, violinist.

A. L. A. Activities

Huge pine cones for souvenirs of the dedication in the Angeles Forest Sunday of the Legion Memorial Park, were brought home by local legionnaires and their families. The beauty of the surrounding country, the cool breezes, and the hike served as a real change from the usual outing. A picnic program consisted of dancing and songs of early California. The girls Drum and Bugle corps from Monterey Park helped keep the picnic lively.

Monday evening. the 18th district meeting will convene in Washington Park Clubhouse in Pomona where nomination of officers will take place.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL
by MAX BERNS

One-Man Rule

Does a 5 to 4 decision of the Supreme Court signify "one-man rule?"

Because a switch of one vote would change the result, it sometimes is said that one man outvotes four.

In any case, one vote less than the required number would change the result; and the larger the required number, the more votes that one changed vote would outweigh. For example, suppose that the Supreme Court could declare a law unconstitutional by a vote of not less than 6 to 3. Then if one of the six switched, that one vote would outweigh the remaining five. There would be a 5 to 4 majority, but this would be insufficient.

If a 7 to 2 vote were required, a change by one of the seven would leave a 6 to 3 or insufficient majority and hence the one vote that changed would outweigh six. If an 8 to 1 vote were required, one vote would outweigh seven. And if a 9 to 0 vote were required, one change would outweigh the vote of eight.

The larger the majority required, the more nearly we approach one-man rule. If a 9 to 0 vote were required for the Supreme Court to declare a law unconstitutional, the vote of one man would outweigh the vote of all the rest.

But in a 5 to 4 vote, not one man but five men make the decision.

Since the Court consists of nine members, the requirement for a 5 to 4 vote is not one-man rule but majority rule. As with votes in the House, the Senate and in our elections, so also with a 5 to 4 vote in the Supreme Court, the rule of the majority prevails.

Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow still has her two-year old son, her millions, and all the fame she could ask for. She would probably be well content with less if she could get hold of what all mortals are after —less worry and more happiness. But a millionairess, it appears, is more apt to hold a mortgage on the former than on the latter. The seers and sages who have bent their thoughts to the problem often say happiness lies in owning and having nothing. The socially-minded economist wants a higher living standard to open the gateway to contentment, the doctor finds its roots in sound health, the psychologist in harmonious relationships between our environment and our fellowmen, while others assert the magic sesame lies in the accumulation of wealth. Personally, we prefer equal parts of each! Countess Babs' fortune has thus far only helped wed her to misfortune in all its guises. We suspect that the five-and-ten cent store girls are getting a better deal from life than the five-and-ten store heiress they work for. Kidnap and murder threats do not haunt their lives!

Not all Americans want a home where the buffalo roam, but a remarkably large number do want a home where the dandelions roam on the front lawn and where their street address is shared by no one. Federal Housing officials today estimated a one billion dollar residence building outlay by the public this year—twice the sum expended in 1937! Once "the little home in the West" was just a popular ballad. Now, better still, it has become a popular program, with California—be it noted— leading the new refrian.

"China will win the war!" This blunt declaration comes from General Alexander von Falkenhausen. Since 1934 he has been engaged in whipping the disorganized Chinese into an efficient military machine. Though his departure from Hankow last week constituted a severe blow to the Chinese forces, his parting words, "Japan will fail both in peace and war!" restored hope and courage. Not because they were pleasant words, but because they came from an internationally known military strategist whose cold-blooded temperament and rigorously factual mind are not given to uttering wishful dreams. More than the optimistic talk about a resurgent China, the popularity of the rice bowl parties, or the opinions of general observers, von Falkenhausen's vote for a China victory is the first sound reason for believing a China victory possible. The man who knows Chinese morale, supplies, and strategy better than anyone, should make the best forecaster.

Growing flowers in Kankakee, Ill., isn't the snap that it is here and in other Southern California communities, but they're going to a city beautification program there in a big way. The town council and chamber of commerce has accepted a recommendation by the Woman's Club that the petunia be adopted as the city flower, to be planted in parkings, about all public bulidings, home gardens and grown in pots on the verandas and indoors. "Two petunias for every pot" is the slogan for the drive.

A proposed bond issue of $40,000 was defeated in the Covina-Baldwin Park school district Tuesday. Baldwin Park spoke vigorously, its negative vote being five to one. Notwithstanding the general smacking down bond issues are receiving at the hands of Southern California voters, San Gabriel's city council is preparing to launch a campaign for a $415,000 sewer bond issue. Arcadias sewer bond proposal, once defeated ,is also to be resubmitted soon.

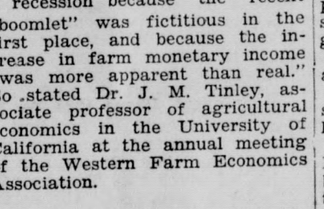

The United States slipped into a recession because the recent "boomlet" was fictitious in the first place, and because the increase in farm monetary income "was more apparent than real." So stated Dr. J. M. Tinley, associate professor of agricultural economics in the University of California at the annual meeting of the Western Farm Economics Association.

Victor Van Hagen, noted explorer, knows something about psychology. "I'm not very sensational, because I tell of the explorer's life and the jungles as I see them, not as the public likes to imagine them," he says.

"Tell the women, and you'll tell the world!" This well-deserved tribute to the lady of the house voices what California's merchants are today regarding increasingly as their foremost precept. And with little wonder either! Just as the newspaper continues to outdistance all other advertising mediums, so the women hold fast to their premier position as the nation's no. 1 buyers. But California husbands have poor cause to complain. Look at the record. Women spend 80 per cent of the state's income in payrolls. They inherit more than 65 per cent of all estates. We have eloquent proof that they have done a sound job of their budgeting and buying—California homes rank first in the nation in slovency, in bills paid, and in mortgages cancelled!

Dr. Lois Hayden Meek, educator, thinks there is too much rush in the schools. "Neither students nor teachers know how to relax. Both are tense and result is a clash of temperament. Relaxation should be taught," she told a teachers institute last week.

Case and Comment

By Charles B. Showalter

(Editor's Note: The opinions expressed herein are those of Mr. Showalter and do not necessarily reflect the attitude or opinions of THE NEWS.)

ONE of the favorite remarks of David Starr Jordan was —"Wisdom consists not so much in knowing what to do in the long run as in what to do next." The wise thing for us to do then is also the next thing, and that is to stop the excesses of the New Deal by electing an effective opposition in the Congress on November 8 of this year.

Herbert Hoover recently said —"The Congressional election of 1938 is probably—I might say surely—the most important since 1860. It will decide the question of jobs or unemployment, want or plenty, for millions of men and women. It may decide the fate of America for at least a generation."

The New Deal experiment has proven a ghastly failure, a costly mistake. Mr. Roosevelt's promises have been shown to be illusory and his pledged word valueless.

He promised to put 9,000,000 unemployed back to work. We now have 12,000,000 unemployed.

He promised to reduce the expenses of the government 25 per cent. He has multiplied the costs many times.

He promsied to balance the budget. He has shown an increasing deficit each year of his administration culminating in a defecit for the fiscal year 1939 of five thousand millions of dollars.

He promised a reduction in taxation. He has piled taxes upon taxes until business and industry no longer can function normally, thereby adding millions to the relief and unemployment rolls and causing a whole people to groan under the oppressive load of debt, desperation and despair.

He took an oath to uphold, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and has trampled it under foot at every turn.

He promised to preserve for us our American democracy. He has exerted himself to the utmost to convert us into an oriental despotism.

His oath of office implied that he would observe and protect the high dignity of the presidental office and pass it on to his successor untarnished and unsullied. yet he has permitted himself and his family to capitalize the prestige of the presidency for their personal aggrandizement. Or to put it so none will fail to understand—making money out of the gift of the American people.

He promised sound currency and has given us inflation.

He promised us security, and such security as we already had has been wrecked for instability.

Mr. Roosevelt wants a New Deal Congress elected in November in order that he may continue unhampered in his mad career. And he proposes to use all the power and prestige of his high office, all the resources of the United States treasury, and all the allurements of patronage, to force an election favorable to his aims. So the issue is clearly drawn. It is Mr. Roosevelt and his depression versus the American people.

New Dealers have become quite adept at characterizing all who oppose their wrecking policies as tories and reactionaries, while they pose as the leaders in an advanced liberalism. As a matter of fact wreckers, amateur and professional, have ever marched under the banners of a false liberalism, while they deprived men of freedom and set civilization backward toward despotism.

If we are to have any such thing as domestic tranquility in this country, if we are to have any peace and comfort and security, then the government must be forced to a complete change of direction. There will be no restoration of confidence and faith until the people know we are off the dangerous road we are now traveling at such reckless and ill considered speed.

Mr. Roosevelt demands that only New Dealers be elected to the Congress in November—men subservient to his will, and subscribing to all the half-baked wild-eyed theories of the group of inexperienced radicals who have his ear at the moment. We can, and we should, put up a solid front against the New Deal candidate in every Congressional district. If in November we elect a majority of men with independent minds, regardless of party, we shall restore confidence and faith at once, and genuine re-employment will begin.

From now to November the radio, the press, the plaform will hum with the raucous appeals of the New Deal, basing their claims for support on their advanced liberalism, branding all opposition as re-actionary and out-of-date. But we need to remind ourselves and others that New Deal lebiralism means being liberal with other peoples' money, whereas many of us entertain the notion that the word liberal was derived from the word liberty. And the true liberal believes in the greatest amount of liberty consistent with order, justice and common decency, to the end that man's creative energies may be released and guided toward the social betterment of himself and his fellow-men. From the very beginning of man's climb out of ignorance and darkness and savagery, the true liberal has been in the forefront of the fight for the freedom of the individual, the right of self-determination, individual initiative, and local self-government.

The New Deal is the complete antithisis of all that is liberal in politics and in government. They seek to take us back to the rule of the autocrat, by centralizing all authority in the executive. They seek to impose upon us all the oppression of a ruling class, by their amazing increase in centralized bureaucracy. They seek absolute control of the individual by the process of regimentation. And they seek to perpetuate themselves in power by diverting the resources of the United States treasury to the corrupt control of elections. Not even Russia under the Romanoffs was as cynically corrupt with the finances of the nation as is the present New Deal regime. The New Dealers are the reactionaries in American politics and they are taking us backward in the same direction as the old world despotisms.

They must be stopped in November.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

EVERYONE who attended the Fourth of July picnic at Chief Richards' home had a good time, but—there was no horse shoe pitching, no foot races, no firecrackers nor was there the usual tug-o'-war, and there was a shortage of food a few minutes after noon. Captain Joe Swanson cooked up a pot of beans that seemed enough for a dinner for the Chinese army and enough meat to supply sandwiches for the San Gabriel firemen's association, but dog-gonned if there was any left for the late comers.

A genuine drill Friday found all the trucks near the Masonic Temple. Swanson's first aid crew practiced some of their work, while another crew took the big ladders from the ladder truck and placed them against the building for an imaginary fire. While this was going on another crew under the supervision of Vern Udell went through the routine of laying a line and pumping to the fire.

And now that the weeds are cleared away, there are many hazardous spots that are quite inflamable. From now until the rainy season, danger of fires will increase. Only those who have seen the side of our mountains burn can realize the danger and know how fast and furious the brush can burn. We must be careful. Let's keep the Fires Out.

Charges Fly Over Wistaria Garden License Demand

had been allowed to run down. The vine was sick and organizations that had conducted the annual Wistaria Fetes for years were no longer interested, and it appeared that the annual festival had or shortly would become a thing of the past.

A real estate agent ,she said, felt so sure of this that he advised prospective buyers in the area that there would be no more fetes. It was no fault of hers, she said, if neighbors who bought near the Vine property failed to make a proper investigation.

It was to continue the fetes and the vine as an attraction for Sierra Madre that she acquired the property, Mrs. Lawless said, and she was not fighting to protect her investment but to protect the community's greatest public asset. "Some of the newcomers to our community do not seem to realize what the Wistaria Vine and continuance of the fete to this city and its organizations," Mrs. Lawless said. Before many residents in the Vine neighborhood bought property, she said, maps were drawn and on exhibition at the city hall showing the proposed extension of Carter avenue beyond the Vine property and its connection with North Lima street.

Col. Hersey was on his feet when Mrs. Lawless sat down to charge that the former city council "spent $800 in making a parking lot for her" (Mrs. Lawless). He said that he had secured these figures from a city official and he believed the city can now recover from members of the council who approved that expenditure.

Mrs. Lawless sought to reply instantly but turning to her, Col. Hersey said, "One at a time, please."

Col. Hersey took exception to the advice given the council by its attorney, Walter A. Dunn, to the effect that it was without legal right to refuse Mrs. Lawless a permit, because there is no existing law or ordinance prohibiting operation of a business in the neighborhood. Col. Hersey said he had been advised by other attorneys that it was not only the right but the duty of the council to refuse a business license where it deemed it in the public interest. Insisting that he and other residents of the Vine neighborhood had no objection to the annual Wistaria Fete and that they would lend every assistance in seeing that it was a success, Col. Hersey said their objection was to all year around operation of a commercial enterprise on the Vine property which was objectionable in a residential neighborhood. "We have grounds for objection," the Colonel said, "and grounds that we believe we can carry out on." Referring again to City Attorney Dunn's advice to council that it could not well refuse a license, Col. Hersey said he did not "believe for a minute" that Dunn's advice was "correct." "He may be biased," said the Colonel, "and you should get advice from several other attorneys."

Mrs. Lawless said she would inquire into Col. Hersey's charge that the city had built a parking lot for her. She had no knowledge of any such thing, she said. She reminded the council that from the time that the 1937 Wistaria Fete closed and that of 1938 opened, she spent $14,800 in wages and materials purchased from local concerns and that she had paid the former owner $3,700 for the parking lot in question.

Col. Hersey had referred to theatrical performances and a rehearsal at the Vine Gardens which disturbed the neighbors and Mrs. Lawless rejoined that at a recent party in the neighborhood dancing to radio music continued until after 2 o'clock in the morning and that cars had been parked along the street until that hour, whereas the Vine Gardens were invariably closed between 8:30 and 10 o'clock. There had been two or three times, she said, when the hour was 10:30, but never later.

Dr. W. H. Scoins, whose West Carter avenue home faces the Vine property, said the year around operation of the Gardens unquestionably depreciated the value of real estate in the neighborhood by making it less desirable for residential purposes but that he would be satisfied with any decision the council made.

Councilman Paul Carter expressed the hope that the differences between Mrs. Lawless and the neighbors would be adjusted in a neighborly manner and suggesetd that the people concerned "sit down around a table and work out this problem."

Mrs. Lawless and Col. Hersey renewed their discussion during a conversation in the council chamber after the council adjourned.

Ask All Property Zoned For Single Residences

Mrs. Wright said the multiple family classification applied to the area would be an injustice to the petitioners as well as to all owners of small homes in the southeastern section of the city. The multiple dwelling zone amounted to nothing less than a discrimination against them, she said. She related an interview with an agent of the FHA in which she was advised that property zoned for multiple dwellings brought a less price and would command a smaller FHA loan than single family property, yet the same property would probably be assessed higher if it were in single famil zone. She insisted there was no demand for bungalow courts and apartment buildings here, that during much of the year some of those already built were untenanted.

"It seems to me," said Mrs. Wright in conclusion, "that if the commission persists in zoning the area represented by this petition for multiple family purposes it will be penalizing small home owners."

Lester K. Layton informed the commission he had recently purchased a lot in the area represented by the Wright petition with the idea of building a home, but that he would not feel justified in putting money into a home next to which an apartment building or bungalow court might later be erected.

Dr. Vannier, after voicing his own protest against other than single family classification for the district at Baldwin, Bonita and Esperanza streets, entered a verbal protest in behalf of William Whitson, formerly of New Jersey, new owner of the famed Yerxa estate on which he is making large expenditures in preparation of making it his permanent home. He, of course, bought the estate to be used as a single family home, Dr. Vannier said, and it would be a great injustice to him to include the property in a district zoned for multiple dwellings.

A petition from property owners on Mariposa street from Hermosa to Lima street protested against multiple family dwellings in that area. It was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Craig,, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Eakman, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Doolittle, Mrs. W. J. Ladd, Mrs. Carrie Keniston, Mrs. Nina K. Norris, Mrs. Mabel Beidler and Mrs. Anna N. James, most of whom attended the meeting and some of whom supplemented their written petitions with oral statements.

It appeared from statements made to the commission by those who protested orally against certain features of the master plan that many misleading statements and stories as to the effect of the plan have been circulated and that there is a general misunderstanding of many of its provisions. Among other things it was stated by several in the audience Monday night they had been informed that if the master plan was approved by the commission at the Monday meeting, no change could be made for a period of six months. The absurdity of this was explained by Mr. Sampson.

Mrs. Jane McElwain of this city was guest at a luncheon last Tuesday given at the Los Feliz home of Mrs. William Roland Moore.

ENGLISH POLITICS AT THE PLAYHOUSE

"Every drunken skipper trusts to Providence. But one of the ways of Providence with drunken skippers is to run them on the rocks." And George Bernard Shaw brings a variety of political skippers to his play, "On the Rocks," slated for the Pasadena Community Playhouse, July 18-23, in its Pacific Coast premiere. The Irishman drags to the footlights and to No. 10 Downing St., his drama's setting, a menagerie of those who would set a troubled England on its feet.
"Heartbreak House" completes its current Playhouse run tomorrow.

In Natural Gas Communities you really see the sky!

There's no chimney smoke in Southern California to dull the beauty of the horizon! For most homes and factories use natural gas. And natural gas is all heat. It burns clean. Of course, people usually take this for granted. It is only when you compare other regions, in which other fuels are used, that you notice the difference. Make a comparison when you take a trip elsewhere. ■ And remember, in factories and in homes, for best service from this clean fuel, use equipment that is up to date. Modern gas appliances for cooking, refrigeration, water-heating and house-heating are now being shown at dealers' and at the gas company. Ask about the very liberal terms.

Barber Of Seville At Hollywood Bowl Next Tuesday

John Charles Thomes, one of the foremost baritones in the world, will come to Hollywood Bowl next Tuesday night as the star of "The Barber of Seville," singing the title role of the comic grand opera. Pietro Cimini, well known for many years as a conductor of this lilting work, will wield the baton. An excellent supporting cast has been assembled for Mr. Thomas. Mario Chamlee of the Metropolitan Opera, will sing Count Almavia, seeking the hand of Rosina, sung by Rosemarie Brancato.

Also in the second week of the Bowl's 17th festival season of Symphonies under the Stars is Jose Iturbi, who will conduct two symphony concerts on Thursday and Friday nights.

GUILD DIRECTORS TO MEET

Boys League Games Are Exciting

VFW's Stage Ninth Inning Rally To Win— Congos Smother Legion 25 To 10

In one of the most exciting games of the Kiwanis boy's league season the VFW's defeated the Legion 13 to 12 Monday night, scoring five runs in the ninth inning. The regular Vets pitcher was not on hand when the game started and Pratt, Congo twirler, was called on to do the chucking in the first inning. The Legion maintained a comfortable lead throughout the game until the Vets put on their winning spurt in the last stanza. The box score:

V.F.W's—	AB	R	H	E

St. Ritas continued their march towards a second championship defeating the Vets 10 to 8 in the season's closest game. Seven of the St. Rita runs were much in the nature of gifts. A wild heave over the fence by McRoberts was costly.

St. Ritas took a 14 to 5 decision over the Congos Friday night, the defeated team staging a veritable comedy of errors. They bobbled eight times and most of the errors were costly. The unlucky Congos had only five of their regulars in the line-up—in fact have not had anything like their full strength on the field in any start this year.

Congos smothered the Legion 25 to 10 in their contest, though the victors made only 16 hits. The Soldiers were guilty of eight errors—not so much worse than the Congos who had six. Every Congo player scored at least two runs, though Lovejoy, Reavis and McCleod went hitless. Pratt and Blanke toured the bases four times each and Blanke was the hitting star with two doubles and two singles out of four times at bat.

Kiwanis Youth Fund Still $45 Short Of The City's Quota

The Community drive for funds to support the city's youth organizations has brought in $530, it was announced at Tuesday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club, which is sponsoring the campaign .But this amount is $45 under the quota. It is hoped within a few days that all sums pledged will be received to put the drive over the top.

"Citizenship" was the subject of an address by W. A. Smith, one of the 17 candidates for supervisor in this district, who was with the Whittier State School for Boys for nine years. Mr. Smith stressed the importance of doing sound clear thinking before elections and then voting for men with high principles. He claimed the feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction on the part of the people is due in great measure to their lack of interest during campaigns when they fail to investigate in detail the candidates for whom they voted.

Boys Rescuing Dog From Cliff Have To Be Rescued

An airedale puppy caused at lot of excitement in Canyon Park Sunday. The pet, owned by Mrs. Margaret Anderson of 610 Holly Trail path, took a stroll during the afternoon, and investigating, puppy fashion, found himself out on a cliff overlooking Woodland Drive near the swimming pool.

Two youngsters, Ernest Smith and Richard Quinn, tried to rescue the dog from his precarious position but in doing so found themselves in a very tight spot. Finally, Julian LaLone, his cousin Louis LaLonde, and John Kennedy came to the rescue with ropes which they lowered from the top of the cliff to the boys and puppy below. One by one, the trio was hoisted to the top of the cliff to safety. Spotlights were used to aid in the two-hour rescue.

CHILD'S BIRTHDAY PARTY IS MEMORABLE EVENT

Uncle Wiggly entertained 36 children who gathered at the B. B. Christie home, 721 West Orange Grove avenue, Saturday afternoon. The occasion was the twelfth birthday of Paul Christie and his friends from Los Angeles, Pasadena and Sierra Madre helped make the event one to be long remembered. The elderly Uncle Wiggly, once a resident of Sierra Madre, who delights in entertaining youngsters with stories and tricks, fascinated those attending the party with his tales. Ice cream, cake and all the birthday trimmings disappeared quickly and happy boys and girls reported a perfectly grand time.

What A Girl Sees Ramblin' 'Round

"ADMIRAL" M. H. A. Peterson takes the ribbing — which comes in every direction because of his proficiency as a sailor and his possession of a "yacht"—very good naturedly. Not many residents of a foothills city could boast of such accomplishments . . The excellent safety record set by Sierra Madre over the holiday weekend is noteworthy. Each year there are slightly fewer accidents over the country. The number is still much too high, but it seems to take a lot of talking to bring any results.

That auction at the Topping estate reminded us of something that happened a few years ago. When Chicago north winds blew vociferiously and with gusto, and unemployed young ladies were in want for entertainment, they acquired the auction-going habit. One of our acquaintance attended so many she became interested in types of period furniture, which changed the course of her life . . . She became associated with a small furniture store and embarked on a remarkably successful career. She claims she owes her knowledge of furniture to the fact that Chicago had so many auctions when she was in need of warmth while the wind howled outside . . . Young women hounded the fashion shows, especially those serving tea, in great numbers, until the management discovered the very unflattering reason why sales were so few and the amount of tea consumed so great . . .

There are no mosquitoes in Sierra Madre, we have been told, but one warm night we heard a buzzing noise that sounded very familiar Sure enough, on our arm, just about to take a supply of our non-too-plentiful red corpuscles, was one of the reasons why so many people spend their summers in California. Hastily we squashed him. We hope he left no family. (We recall vaguely hearing that the male mosquitoes do not bite—we hope, therefore, she left no children) . . . George Mesecar examining the large almost dead pepper tree outside the News office, tells us that the person who deeded that particular piece of property to the city did so with the proviso that the tree should never be disturbed. Many new officials on taking office, have decided the tree should be cut down, but in accordance with the proviso it still stands, a rather impaired relic of former days when gentlemen settled the affairs of the world around its trunk (before they moved across the street to the P. E. Station. Inasmuch as nothing was said about a dead tree, it is assumed that the time left on Kersting Court for the old pepper tree is limited.

Democrats To Have Picnic Meeting In Altadena Tuesday

With invitations out to every registered Democrat in the district to bring picnic baskets on Tuesday, July 19, 6 p. m., to Altadena Park and hear Democratic candidates for state and national office, plans have been completed for what promises to be a rousing political rally.

Principal speaker will be Congressman John Steven McGroarty. Invitations have also been extended Senator W. G. McAdoo, Congressman John Dockweiler, Dr. Z. T. Malaby, and Assembly candidates Leslie H. Preston and T. A. Reynolds.

FIRESIDE CLUB WILL HAVE FAMILY PICNIC

Congregational church Fireside Club members are planning one of their enjoyable meetings for Wednesday evening. It will be in the form of a family picnic for father, mother and kiddies at Monrovia Park. While the children will want to go early for a swim and mother may use the car to take Aunt May or Grandpa along, Dad may gang up with Charley's dad and come at 6 o'clock for the united family supper. The plunge will be open until 9 o'clock.

If members have no means of conveyance, transportation will be furnished by telephoning 2523. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Al Miller, Mrs. H. M. Wilhelmi, Mrs. Roy Pickett and Mrs. H. C. Reavis.

THIEVES BREAK INTO ROESS MARKET

The F. L. C. Roess market at 331 West Sierra Madre Blvd., was broken into Saturday evening and eight cartons of cigarettes taken. It is believed entrance was made through the north window on the west side of the building. This window faces Lima street, just a little above sidewalk level and is protected by ½ inch square iron bars. These had evidently been pulled out by hand bending them in the middle. The cigarettes were taken out of the the showcase on the west side of the store. Nothing else in the store had been disturbed.

Two Intersections Designated For Safety Stops

Effective Wednesday, the intersections at Santa Anita and Grand View avenues, and at Woodland Drive and at Sturtevant road became boulevard stops. Signs were immediately erected following action by the city council approving a recommendation by the police department.

Councilman Tom Schwartz advised the council that the matter of designating the intersection of West Sierra Madre boulevard and Villa Road as a boulevard stop had been taken up with the Pasadena city officials, who seemed sympathetic and are making a traffic count. This crossing has been the scene of half a dozen serious accidents.

Didn't See A Speck Of Gold In Gold Mine

A trip through a gold mine was one of the interesting experiences enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Coumbe on their recent trip to San Francisco and northern California. The travelers visited Amador City in the mining region.

"We saw everything in the mine from A to Z but not a speck of gold," said Mrs. Coumbe. "It is very carefully guarded."

PROVISIONS OF ZONE PLAN TO BE EXPLAINED

There appear to be many misunderstandings of the intent and provisions of the land use or Master Plan which will serve as the basis for Sierra Madre's new zoning ordinance, now in course of preparation.

In next week's issue of The Sierra Madre News there will appear a clear, comprehensive authorized statement by the City Planning Commission explaining its Master Plan in detail, its provisions, what it is designed to accomplish, the proper time and place to indicate objections, and the manner in which protests may be made effective.

Do You Operate Under a

Fictitious Firm Name?

If so, have you complied with the requirements of Section 2466 of the Civil Code, which says: "Every person and every partnership transacting business . . . under a fictitious firm name must file . . . a certificate stating the name in full and the place of residence of such person and the members of such partnership?

Such certificate must be published once a week for four consecutive weeks.

If you have neglected this procedure, do you realize that the name of your firm is not protected, and that you are not entitled to maintain suits for collection, or other purposes in the courts of the State of California?

Take care of this important matter NOW by having the Sierra Madre News publish certificate.

Consult your attorney or The News at once for further information.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

EVERYONE who attended the Fourth of July picnic at Chief Richards' home had a good time, but—there was no horse shoe pitching, no foot races, no firecrackers nor was there the usual tug-o'-war, and there was a shortage of food a few minutes after noon. Captain Joe Swanson cooked up a pot of beans that seemed enough for a dinner for the Chinese army and enough meat to supply sandwiches for the San Gabriel firemen's association, but dog-gonned if there was any left for the late comers.

A genuine drill Friday found all the trucks near the Masonic Temple. Swanson's first aid crew practiced some of their work, while another crew took the big ladders from the ladder truck and placed them against the building for an imaginary fire. While this was going on another crew under the supervision of Vern Udell went through the routine of laying a line and pumping to the fire.

And now that the weeds are cleared away, there are many hazardous spots that are quite inflamable. From now until the rainy season, danger of fires will increase. Only those who have seen the side of our mountains burn can realize the danger and know how fast and furious the brush can burn. We must be careful. Let's keep the Fires Out.

ENGLISH POLITICS AT THE PLAYHOUSE

"Every drunken skipper trusts to Providence. But one of the ways of Providence with drunken skippers is to run them on the rocks." And George Bernard Shaw brings a variety of political skippers to his play, "On the Rocks," slated for the Pasadena Community Playhouse, July 18-23, in its Pacific Coast premiere.

SPLENDID BILL AT WASHINGTON THEATRE

A splendid program is scheduled for July 15 and 16 at the Washington Theatre in Pasadena when Alice Brady in "Goodbye Broadway" appears together with "Heart of Arizona" with William Boyd as Hop Along Cassidy. At the Saturday matinee Episode No. 1 of "Fighting Devil Dogs" will be shown.

"There's Always a Woman" with Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas will be shown at the Washington, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 17, 18 and 19, together with "First One Hundred Years" with Robert Montgomery, Virginia Bruce and Warren William.

A Sierra Madrean, Mrs. Rose Delvecci, of the Rose Marie Beauty Shop, won a vacation trip prize at the Washington last week, and William J. Ryan, 2085 South Santa Rosa, Altadena, was this week's winner.

In Natural Gas Communities you really see the sky!

There's no chimney smoke in Southern California to dull the beauty of the horizon! For most homes and factories use natural gas. And natural gas is all heat. It burns clean. Of course, people usually take this for granted. It is only when you compare other regions, in which other fuels are used, that you notice the difference. Make a comparison when you take a trip elsewhere. ■ And remember, in factories and in homes, for best service from this clean fuel, use equipment that is up to date. Modern gas appliances for cooking, refrigeration, water-heating and house-heating are now being shown at dealers' and at the gas company. Ask about the very liberal terms.
